

Community

At MSMS, we become more than just classmates we become a family. While at MSMS we do our part to help one another in times of need. We help by organizing study groups or helping with class projects. We also have school dances, including Winter Formal and Prom. Sometime, we just like to hang out and be normal teenagers. As part of the MSMS Community, we do what we can to make each other's lives less stressful.

Come Challenge Yourself

SCHOLARSHIP, SERVICE, CREATIVITY, AND COMMUNITY

Scholarship

At MSMS, we strive to gain the best education possible. We challenge ourselves by taking more advanced courses that allow us to explore our own interests. Classes at MSMS are designed to go beyond simple memorization and actually provide practical, hands-on educational experiences.

While at MSMS we embrace the idea of scholarship by competing in competitions and taking advantage of opportunities to do mentorships or independent research.

Service

While attending MSMS we do our part to help the school. Every student is assigned work service that is done once a week to keep MSMS looking nice and to give more respect for our surroundings.

MSMS also has a variety of service organizations that support the local community by doing things like helping at the local animal shelter or getting involved with Habit for Humanity.

As students, we also do our part to help each other by organizing study groups or doing one-on-one tutoring.

Creativity

MSMS does more than just focus on math and science; we also have art and humanity classes. This allows us to become more well-rounded students and allows us to express ourselves and just have fun.

MSMS offers classes in the Fine Arts, Performing Arts, and Digital Media and also produces its own literary magazine, Southern Voices, featuring original works by MSMS students.

MSMS has a research-based U. S. history class, Tales from the Crypt. Students select a person from Friendship Cemetery, research his or her life, and perform an original monologue.
